

> euroAtlantic multiplied the return on sales by 3.9

25-07-2006 (18h40) [ Presstur ]

euroAtlantic airways, owned by the family of its chairman, Tomaz Metello and the Pestana Group, had its 3A rating re-endorsed by Dun & Bradstreet, with a substantial improvement in financial ratios, to wit the return on sales (an indicator of operational efficiency) which increased by 3.9 times to 7.4%.

The analysis concluded that the “financial muscle” of euroAtlantic stands at 11.34 million euros based on its net value.

The rating assigned bestows upon euroAtlantic the minimum risk category and also states that in a comparison with 37 companies from the sector no other presents better ratios and only two are the same